Survivor Spotlight: Marianne G.

My name is Marianne Gordon. In 2008, at 41 years old, I was rushed to the emergency room after passing out due to a collapsed lung. I had been seeing my doctor prior to this because my blood pressure kept mysteriously dropping which was attributed to some sort of heart condition. Keep reading to learn about Marianne's shocking discovery and her amazing journey.

Meet John: Behind the Scenes of the Lung Cancer Registry

John Wells, MBA-HA is the Senior Specialist on GO2 Foundation's Lung Cancer Registry team. We sat down with John to talk about his role with the Registry, his experience as a health care professional and his advice for people living with lung cancer and their loved ones.

Young People Get Lung Cancer Too. We Need to Know Why.

When you think about diseases impacting young people, lung cancer might not be at the top of your list. But the reality might surprise you. An increasing number of young people are being diagnosed with lung cancer without explanation. “It took a total of about eight months, four or five doctors visits and multiple X-rays to eventually get that stage IV diagnosis.” -Stephen Huff, lung cancer survivor diagnosed at age 28. Keep reading Stephen and Emily’s amazing story.
